

Region Posts

Region posts are scattered across the server. They're an experimental plugin that implements a kind of long distance fast-travel system. They're only created by the server admins; players cannot create them yet, though a plan for that is in the works. A region post is a colored block of wool on top of a cobblestone and glowstone pedestal. Clicking on the wool will allow you to access a menu of nearby region posts. Clicking one of the items will teleport you there!

Regions are sorted in the menu by visit activity. The more people that visit a region, the closer to first its listed.
